

The Arrival of Belief at the Extremities of the Silk Roads: Recent work on the archaeology of the interface between incoming and local religions in Eurasia 400 – 1000 AD

Programme for Public Lectures

Date: Thursday 22 November 2018

Time: Doors open 13:30, discussion ends 19:00

Venue: Birkbeck Room, The Great Hospital,
Norwich, NR1 4EL

In association with:

Norfolk and Norwich Archaeological Society

Centre for Japanese Studies,
University of East Anglia

Sainsbury Centre for Visual Arts

Image: Bronze head of Bodhisattva Sainsbury Centre for Visual Arts. UEA1193

13:30 Doors open

13:45 Welcoming remarks
Simon Kaner

14:00 Silk and Faith on the Silk Road
Susan Whitfield

14:30 How Buddhism changed the world at the east extreme end of the silk road
Shinya Shoda, Shigeto Ishibashi and Tomomi Tamura

15:00 Okinoshima – the Shosoin of the Sea
Miki Okadera and Simon Kaner

15:30 Early Buddhism in Korea
Rhi Juhyung

16:00 Tea break

16:15 Recent discoveries in Viking archaeology
Brian Ayers

16:45 The sacralisation of space in
Anglo-Saxon England
Katy Cubitt

17:15 Recent Anglo-Saxon archaeology in East Anglia: a Global Archaeology perspective
Simon Kaner

17:45 Discussion with a glass of wine

19:00 Discussion ends

Organised by:

 SAINSBURY INSTITUTE
for the Study of Japanese Arts and Cultures セインズベリー日本藝術研究所

Sponsored by:

TOSHIBA
Leading Innovation >>>